

Get real

You tell us that the heir to the throne fears advances in computing technology may produce a generation “that need hardly experience real life at all” (“Charles warns against rise of ‘manchine’”, News, last week).

Does he have no sense of irony?

Bob Bury Leeds, West Yorkshire